General Denver is growing cautious. He never alluded to anything as "the nigger vote."

"He (the boodler) is a scoundrel," remarked General Denver in his little speech at the convention last Saturday. And then everybody applauded but Ditty.

"I resigned from the army because my juniors were promoted over me." Another disinterested patriot. Of course it didn't matter which side won, so he rose to distinction.

"When you pay him his price," said Gen. Denver, in alluding to the man who would sell his vote, "you don't know whether he will vote for you or not. He may stick the money down in his pocket and then vote the other way. I have no use for such men." And Ditty merely glanced down at the floor.

"If I had gone on the stage of Vicksburg would have been avoided—there would have been no siege of Vicksburg." Ret. General! Tell us about that in a series of Century Magazine articles. It would look better on paper than it sounds when spoken, and if it is true the Century will pay you big to tell how "it might have been."

"No," remarked a prominent Democrat, after it was all over and the martyrs had been named and Denver had said his little piece, "Denver's a nice old guy, but he doesn't realize the strides that have been made in political methods since he was in politics. It's all right to talk the way he did about boodlers, but just the same, we can't get along without it in this day and age—got to have it, you know. Still it wouldn't do you harm to let on that you don't think he is as dumb as that"—and so on indefinitely.

"Whoever attempts to corrupt (with boodle) is a villain." And Robert L. Diabie never said a word.

Denver knows how the Confederacy was lost. Denver could have told Grant how to have avoided the siege of Vicksburg.

General Denver ought to be a good fighter if the parallel between himself and Gen. Grant is to hold out. He certainly is not a talker.

The only thing that could be dryer than Denver's speech last Saturday would be a boodle-less Democratic crowd. The court room was crowded when he began. It was very thinly peopled when he finished.

He talked long time about the tariff and silver, and even about why he resigned from the army, but he neglected to reiterate that he had been "in accord with the Democratic party for more than forty years."

How strange it is that General Denver—"raised in Clinton county among the Quakers"—never owned "a nigger." How intensely strange, that amid such encouragements, he never owned even "a single nigger."

"Whoever indulges in corruption," remarked the General, or words to that effect, "is a traitor to his country." And the Grand High Boss of Highland County Democracy pulled his mustache and cast his azure eyes toward the stove.

If the Democratic party is running on their morality, as Boss Bob (who thinks it no excuse for failure to corrupt the ballot because he did claim in his paper, why did they pass by Boles, Pearce, Hope and Boush and select Mr. Gaddis, of Texas, for Auditor?

He may have faced the guns at Monterey or Chapultepec without a tremor, but the old General blushed audibly when his old comrade reminded him of the soft spot he used to have in his heart for the Southern girls. But of course that has nothing to do with the siege of Vicksburg.

"I belong to no church, and never did; but I was raised in Clinton county among the Quakers, and I used to like to go to Quaker meeting. I used to like to see the old Quakers and, in my younger days, I used to like to see the Quaker girls." General, you're a real giddy old thing, so there. Hold on, Quaker!

"This county is so close that the man who will use the largest amount of money will be elected. This is a plain statement of the fact, without any limitations."

"Lefevre, Foust and Grim, nominated respectively for the offices of Auditor, Commissioner and Infirmary Director. A weak ticket that will prove but a small barrier to the entrance of the nominees of to-day's Convention in the Court House."—Hillsboro Gazette, Oct. 16, 1886. The conclusion from the above is obvious.

Our Democratic friends are in a sad plight, four hundred of them having been written up by Ditty, and called all manner of names by Denver, and none in the county or district competent to fill the offices, so they had to select a candidate for Congress from Washington, D. C., and one for Auditor from Texas, one of whom resigned from the army because he didn't want to help free the niggers, and the other attempted to break up the South by breaking the individuals thereof, and is said to have succeeded admirably as far as he went.

Denver went to a great deal of trouble to tell how the navy has been mismanaged by Republican administrations, but he never said a word about how Buchanan's Democratic Secretary of Navy, who knew that the South would soon be in arms, was so careful to scatter the navy that we had into all parts of the globe, and where it could fall into the hands of the rebels, virtually destroying its availability as a help to the government. Navy word. He didn't tell about how "old Buck" approved all of this, as did his Democratic cabinet and the Democratic party of that day. Navy word. But still he has been "in accord with the Democratic party for forty years."

"I never owned a negro. No one of my name ever owned a negro." Said the gallant General. That's strange. We thought all the while that everybody up in Clinton county used to own slaves and raise cotton and carry on the slave trade. Funny that he should never have owned a slave. Why didn't you, General, bring down your fist with an emphatic thump and say something like this: "Slavery was an abominable, heinous sin against God and man. I hated the institution and fought among other reasons that the black man should enjoy the freedom, that, in the name of justice and right was his. But you didn't say that. You wouldn't lie about a little thing like that."

Our Next Commissioner.

John M. Foust is a native of New Market township, and was raised in this county. He was a poor boy, and had his own way to make in the world. By his own exertion and energy he acquired a good education, and was engaged a number of years in teaching school in Highland county. By his industry, frugality and good business capacity he has accumulated a competence, and is now one of the successful farmers of Clay township. He has served one term as Justice of the Peace, and although urged by his friends, he declined to accept a second term. He has been a member of the School Board in his district for several years, and has served eight years as Township Clerk.

Mr. Foust is strictly a temperance man, and has been a member in good standing of the Christian Church since his boyhood. He served as a private soldier during the war of the Rebellion. He is a popular man in his own township, and will receive a large Democratic vote. He is an honest, capable business man, and a man to whom it will be safe to entrust the business of the county.

Men in Glass Houses Should be Careful How They Throw Stones.

For a few weeks past the Gazette has been pretending to advocate the cause of a pure ballot. This is a subject that should be discussed by every thinking man, every man who loves his country and hopes for her success in the future. Corruption is fastening herself upon us, and without we as a people unite and say that the buying of votes shall be stopped, we will soon fall as other nations.

Mr. Editor of the Gazette, will you please tell me how you can have the audacity to say so much upon this subject, and at the same time claim that the Republicans are the ones who have been spending the money in Highland county?

Don't you know the Republicans have a majority of at least one hundred in the county, and that there has not been a Democrat elected in the county in the last ten years, without the use of money to influence votes?

Do you remember your campaign of 1884? Do you remember anything of your conduct that fall? Do you remember what you said to the boys? Did you say anything like this: "Boys, take this (fifty or a hundred dollars) and go and do everything in your power for my election. I didn't spend two hundred and eight dollars to attend the State and National Conventions for nothing. I went there to get acquainted with the leading men of the country, and if I'm elected my influence will be as great as Doctor Ellaberry's; so go home and do everything you can to secure my election and I'll remember you." Will you deny it? Oh, no! for you said it so often and to so many, that denial won't do. Ditty, don't you know that "boodle, sweet boodle" was all that saved you? Don't you know that the people know that you gave out more in that campaign than any Republican did last fall to get his office? Don't you think you should be ashamed of yourself upon this subject, when you take a retrospective view of your past conduct? Say, what went with that money that the Gazette office left in Clay township last fall? You didn't spend any money? Such stuff is all nonsense, and but fit to tell children.

Ditty, taking your definition of a sneak and traitor, if you would drive them all out of the Democratic party, how many would be left? What would become of the Gazette editors themselves? You say any man who voted for a Republican, is one of that class, and should be ruled out of the Democratic party. What in that case would become of the Democratic party in Highland county? Many an old farmer who has been voting the Democratic ticket all his life, voted for men on the Republican ticket last fall; but according to your diction he must not be permitted to be any longer a member of your party.

Oh, what a wonderful man you are. You have been so successful in leading the Democratic party in Highland county to success. Ditty, I don't wonder at your leaving the Republican party. A man possessing the characteristics that you possess, should not, and in fact could not, be a member of such a party. You remember well how you have talked about the Grand Army of the Republic and Sons of Veterans, don't you? You remember that you have argued that they are institutions formed by the Republican party for corrupt political purposes, don't you? But so manifest it is that you are a "Democrat for revenue only" that it is not surprising that you are so ready to charge venality upon others. You may be sure that you have been weighed in the balance by the soldiers and the Grand Army and their sons and found wanting.

Hundreds of men are glad to see the Gazette even by pretense opposing the unlawful use of money in elections. A free ballot and a free country is a cardinal doctrine of the Republican party.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is fast taking the place of all the old-fashioned cough remedies. It never fails to relieve the most violent cold, and for throat diseases it is invaluable. Price 50 cents.
